

Select Austin for Governor Race

Named to Fill Paschen Vacancy By Demo Group

Chicago Jurist Promises Vigorous Illinois Campaign

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (U.P.) — A Chicago jurist has climbed out of almost political obscurity to become the Democratic Party's candidate for governor of Illinois.

Superior Court Judge Richard B. Austin was named by the Democratic State Central Committee Tuesday to fill the vacancy created last week by the resignation of Cook County (Chicago) Treasurer Herbert C. Paschen.

The 54-year-old jurist promised a vigorous campaign against his opponent, Republican Gov. William G. Stratton.

Austin, however, could run into a challenge today from the state electoral board, all Republican, was to meet to certify the ballot. Certification of candidates must be filed with loyalty oaths by 3 p. m. Could Rule Against Technically, the board could rule against the withdrawal of Paschen since the period for getting out of an race passed last month. Such a ruling, however, could be challenged in the courts and was believed unlikely.

In Los Angeles, Adlai E. Stevenson—Democratic presidential candidate—said Austin was one of several "splendid nominees" he told party leaders he thought were "highly qualified" for the candidacy.

"I'm confident that he (Austin) will make a strong candidate and will make a winning race," Stevenson said.

Selection A Compromise

Austin is practically unknown outside Chicago, but apparently represented a compromise between the power Chicago faction of the party and downstate leaders. It had been reported some of the downstate leaders were planning to rebel against any candidate closely identified with Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate.

1,461 Enrolled In City Schools

A total of 1461 boys and girls are enrolled in the city school system for the school term of 1956-57.

Individual school enrollments are as follows: Junior High 330; McKinley 410; Horace Mann 359; Logan 187; Dorris Heights 38; Liberty 27; and Bayliss 110.

Russell Malan, superintendent of city schools, stated that this enrollment figure was for the day following Labor Day and that more students are enrolling and from 30 to 40 more are expected within the next week.

The enrollment numbers for Dorrisville grade school and the Harrisburg Township high school were unavailable.

Auto Overturns, Driver Uninjured

A Harrisburg man, en route to work at Marion, was reported uninjured when his car overturned on Route 13 about three and a half miles west of town.

He was Don Young of 1315 South McKinley avenue.

The sheriff's office reported they had been informed that the car overturned when Young swerved to avoid hitting a car halted on the pavement. The car, they said they were told, belonged to Howard Bickel of South Skaggs street. The Young car was badly damaged.

He had been employed by the Sahara Co. for 28 years.

Ed Neal, 35, Dies; Former Local Gas Co. Manager

Edward M. Neal, 35, former local manager of the Southeastern Illinois Gas Co., died this morning in Veterans Memorial hospital on Grand avenue in St. Louis, where he had been a patient for about two months.

Mr. Neal had suffered from a disease of the lymphatic glands for approximately five years but had been able to do his work with the gas company most of the time. He was manager of the company's Metropolis office at the time of his death.

A native of East Leford community, he went to work for the gas company here in 1940 as a serviceman's helper following his graduation from Harrisburg Township high school and later was transferred to Metropolis as a serviceman. When World War II came he entered the Naval Air Corps.

Upon his return from service, he started working for the gas company here and was soon made local manager. In 1953 he was transferred to Metropolis as manager.

About five years ago, when manager here, he spent time in the Veterans hospital at Marion and in Jefferson Barracks hospital after his condition was first recognized and was able to return to his work, which he continued until about two months ago.

He leaves his wife, Katherine, and a son, Kerry. His mother, Mrs. Elvie Dann, lives at East Leford. Other relatives include a half-sister, Mrs. Arlene Owens, of East Leford.

There was no announcement on funeral arrangements.

Death Takes Mrs. W. O. Gaskins, 76

Mrs. Ruth Gaskins, 76, died at 12:15 a. m. today at her home, 31 West Park. She was the widow of W. O. Gaskins who preceded her in death, June 11, 1948.

She had been ill for the past several years but seriously ill for the past year.

Mrs. Gaskins was born Oct. 29, 1879, daughter of Jared W. and Mary E. Richardson. She was married to W. O. Gaskins Feb. 6, 1900, and is survived by their six children: Harry R. Gaskins, Ashton, Mrs. Sarge (Marietta) Kensley, Chicago, Mrs. Ernest (Elsie) Sturm, Elmhurst, Jay W. Gaskins of Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. Louise LaBaw at home.

She is also survived by a sister, Miss Mary Richardson, of Harrisburg, nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Gaskins was a devoted member of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church.

The body will lie in state at Gaskins funeral home late today. Funeral arrangements are not complete, awaiting arrival of the children, but tentative plans are for Friday.

Eisenhower Plans Farm Belt Tour

Will Speak at Newton, Iowa On September 21

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — President Eisenhower announced today that his first major re-election campaign effort will be concentrated in the midwestern farm belt.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference that he will make a speech at Newton, Iowa, Sept. 21.

The chief executive, running over early campaign plans, said he would make at least four speeches this month. One of them will be a major nationwide television and radio discussion of farm policy from a site yet to be announced.

Other highlights of Mr. Eisenhower's news conference:

He deplored activities of extremists on both sides of the school segregation issue in the South, saying they should not be permitted to defeat what the nation knows is a logical conclusion to the school segregation problem—the equality of man.

Free World Is Stronger

He said it is unimportant whether he endorsed or accepted the Supreme Court's outlawing public school segregation. More important, he said, is the fact that the decision represented the constitutional power of this country and he must conform with it.

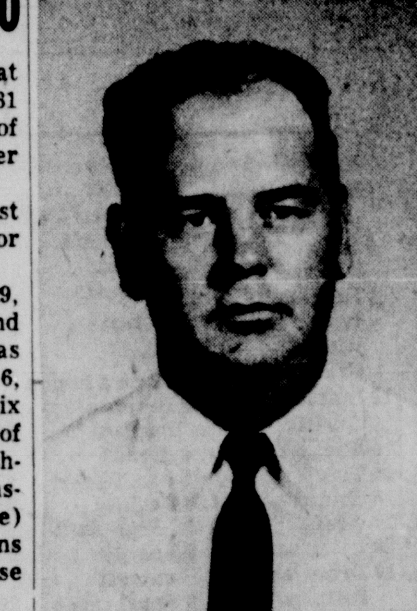

He hit back at Democratic Labor Day speeches charging that the West has been losing the cold war since he took office. He said the free world is appreciably stronger now than in 1953, when he became president.

Mr. Eisenhower said the United States is committed to a peaceful solution of the Suez crisis. He said the solution is one that would assure all nations free use of the waterway.

He does not see any advantage now in a new summit conference with Russian leaders. Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) has suggested it is time for another summit meeting.

He praised New York Atty. Gen. (Continued on Page Three)

J. L. Thompson Named Deputy U. S. Marshal

James L. Thompson

United States Marshal Vernon Woods announced today the appointment of James L. Thompson, Harrisburg, as a Deputy U. S. Marshal in and for the Eastern District of Illinois. Thompson, age 37, is a native of Brushy township and for the past five years has owned and operated a filling station on Route 13 west of Harrisburg.

In announcing the Thompson appointment, Woods stated that he now has three deputies to assist him in his duties in the Eastern District of Illinois which comprises 45 counties in eastern and southern Illinois.

Woods further states that Thompson has the highest recommendation for his new position in that he served as a military policeman for some four years in the United States Army

Nasser Suggests 5-Nation Committee Closely Linked To UN to Run Suez Canal

CAIRO (U.P.) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser suggested to the five-nation Suez committee that an advisory board closely linked with the United Nations be set up to run the Suez Canal, government sources said today.

Within a few hours after the Nasser stand was made public, Maj. Kamal El Din Hussein, head of Egypt's volunteer national liberation army, ordered his units into the front line with the warning "a surprise attack may come at any time."

Hussein issued the warning during a surprise visit to potential battlegrounds in the Suez Canal Zone where liberation army units—the hurriedly mustered reserve army—have been stationed.

Although Nasser rejected the Dulles plan for international control of the canal, Egyptian sources said he offered his counter-proposal in an effort to break the deadlock. The sources emphasized that neither the Dulles nor the Nasser proposals were final but were suggested in hopes of reaching a negotiated settlement.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd reaffirmed Britain's intent to seek a peaceful solution but said closure of the canal would affect every nation in Europe and Asia and that force would be used as a "last resort."

Dynamite Blast in Beirut

In Tripoli, the Libyan government, a neighbor of Egypt, protested to the United States and France against the French military buildup on Cyprus and expelled a French consul at Fezzan as an "undesirable person."

In Beirut, Lebanon, unknown persons calling themselves "Nasser's volunteers" dynamited the Beirut office of the British-founded Arab News Agency. No casualties were reported. James Swinburn, British business manager of the agency, was arrested last week in Cairo on espionage charges.

The French cruiser Georges Leygues arrived in Valletta, Malta, today and there were unconfirmed reports it was en route to Cyprus to join the Anglo-French military buildup.

Stevenson today called for an end to the military draft "at the earliest possible moment consistent with the national safety."

The Democratic presidential nominee told the national convention of the American Legion he believes this is "the national will" and "I subscribe with all my heart to this purpose."

In his prepared text, Stevenson delivered a slashing attack on the Republicans for "playing politics with peace" and for blaming the Democrats for World Wars I and II and the Korean war.

Stevenson said the election campaign should be waged over "which party offers the most responsible program for peace." One problem which "we must rethink," he said, was the make-up of military forces of the future.

Stevenson said many military experts believe the armies of the future will use mobile units equipped with tactical atomic weapons.

"Already it has become apparent that our most urgent need is to encourage trained men to re-enlist rather than to multiply the number of partly trained men," Stevenson said.

Stevenson opened his speech by charging that the Republican national convention in San Francisco had "twisted and tortured" the Times said. "The Times regrets any misinterpretation that may have resulted. The Times is printing the full Stevenson statement."

The Times article—read in part by Hagerty to newsmen at the White House—summarized a 400-word statement that Stevenson issued Friday at Chicago after his week-long meetings with Democratic leaders across the nation. The summary began:

"All the news is good," he (Stevenson) said. There was 'serious unemployment' in northern New Mexico, Detroit and southern Illinois."

The text of Stevenson's statement showed that his comments about "good news" and unemployment were made separately. He mentioned areas where there is heavy unemployment in discussing what he called "our lopsided prosperity."

Later, Stevenson said that "as to the purely political aspects of our trip, all the news is good."

When this version of Stevenson's statement was called to Hagerty's attention, he declined to make any additional comment on the subject

Switch Thrown By Mistake; 10 are Injured

All of Dead in New Mexico Crash Are Train Personnel

SPRINGFIELD, N. M. (U.P.) — The speeding Santa Fe Chief was mistakenly switched onto a siding near here today when it smashed into a parked mail train, killing an estimated 20 persons.

Railroad officials said at least 10 persons were injured.

Santa Fe Trainmaster J. K. Hastings said at Las Vegas, N. M., that the crack passenger streamliner roared onto the siding when a switch was thrown in error by railroad personnel. The eastbound mail express was waiting there for the Chief to pass.

The crash of the diesel locomotives sounded like a bomb in the pre-dawn hours. The huge locomotives, weighing almost two million pounds, were smashed into a thousand pieces. Three of the first sleeper and Pullman cars were telescoped into mangled wreckage.

Hastings said reports indicated that all of the dead were Santa Fe employees. He said 4 of them were operating personnel and 16 were stewards or similar workers.

Buried Beneath Wreckage

The car in which they were riding was buried beneath the wreckage of two others. Removal of the bodies was delayed for several hours until heavy derricks and other equipment could be brought here to untangle the mangled cars.

A long segment of the siding rails and about 75 yards of the main line were torn up. Cars near the rear of the Chief stopped at crazy angles, tilting oddly down embankments along the railroad.

Only the engine of the express mail train was overturned, a heap of shattered metal.

Hastings said the speed tape on the Chief which automatically registers the speed at all times was ripped and jammed to a point where it may never be known how fast the luxury passenger train was traveling.

The collision occurred about five miles south of here at a siding known as Robinson—in a semi-arid section of northeastern New Mexico where towns are few and small.

Most Were Asleep

A passenger on the fourth car back on the westbound Chief, Herbert Hudson, of Enon, Ohio, said he and most others on the train were asleep when the accident occurred at 4:10 a. m. CST.

"When I awoke there was a lot of noise from the train's under gear and we were bouncing around a bit," he said.

"But there was no panic in our car. No one was injured but there was some anxiety when we learned the doors were jammed shut."

Like those in other cars, Hudson and his companions broke through windows with sledge hammers and got out.

The injured were taken to the Colfax General Hospital here. The uninjured were brought to the Brown Hotel where many were put up in rooms or waited in the lobby.

Chief steward Conrad Reyer said the men trapped in the first car of the Chief were probably all Negro dining car personnel.

TB Deaths in Illinois Drop to All-Time Low

SPRINGFIELD — Deaths from tuberculosis dropped to a new all-time low of 898, or 9.6 per 100,000 population, in Illinois in 1955, the State Public Health Department reported today.

It was the first year in which Illinois reported fewer than deaths from tuberculosis. The previous low was in 1954 when deaths totaled 1,058, a rate of 11.6 per 100,000 population.

Of the 898 deaths in 1955, 629
were in Chicago and 269 down-state. Chicago's death rate dropped about 10 per cent and down-state's about 28 per cent, making a decline of about 17 per cent for the state as a whole.

Public Health Director Dr. Roland R. Cross credited earlier diagnosis and more adequate treatment with the decline in tuberculosis mortality. But he said the declining death rate does "not indicate that tuberculosis is diminishing to any extent."

He pointed out there were 5,814 new active cases of the disease reported in 1955, three more than the 5,811 new cases in 1954.

Will It Be Thick Enough to Slice?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is touring the Middle East. During his absence, the Washington Merry-Go-Round will be written by his junior partner.)

By JACK ANDERSON

JACK ANDERSON Says:
Sleuths Blame CAB Members
For Stock-Market Leak; Senate Aides Profited On North-East Stock; CBS Man Tried Counterfeiting Credentials.

WASHINGTON. — It will rock the airline industry, but Senate investigators think they have found the Northeast Airlines stock-market leak. Insiders made a killing in Northeast stock the morning after the Civil Aeronautics Board secretly voted to let Northeast fly the lush New York-Miami run.

Senate sleuths blame two CAB members — Chan Gurney, whom they claim tipped off Sen. Styles
Bridges, (R., N. H.); and Harman
Denny, who allegedly called Delta Airlines' Washington representative Robert Griffith.

Gurney denied to this column that he had tipped off anyone.
"Anyone who says I did," he snorted "is crazy as a hoot owl." Denny couldn't be reached for comment, but Griffith called the report "absolutely incorrect."

This column has established, however, that three of Senator Bridges' aides rushed out and bought Northeast stock the morning it jumped from $9.25 to $13 a share. Another who made an overnight windfall profit was Georgia's GOP boss, Robert Snodgrass, president of Atlas Finance Company in Atlanta.

GOP BOSS MADE $2,250

Snodgrass acknowledged to this column that he had bought 1,000 shares the lucky morning and made a quick profit of $2,250. He also admitted close friendship with Griffith, but denied receiving any inside tip from the Delta executive.

The CAB examiner had recommended granting the New York-Miami route to Delta, but was overruled by the board in a secret, 3-2 vote. This column can reveal that Gurney and Denny, both Republicans, voted for Delta. Strangely the two Democratic board members, Joe Adams and Joseph Minetti, joined with GOP Chairman James Duffee in favoring Northeast Airlines.

What makes this strange is that Northeast operates principally in Republican New England, whereas Delta is strong in the Democratic south. Northeast's biggest stockholder is also Floyd Odlum, whose wife, Jackie Cochran, is running for Congress in California on the GOP ticket.

The Senate Banking committee plans to give the whole affair a public airing. The Securities and Exchange Commission, Uncle Sam's stock-market cops, is also investigating—much to the discomfort of the CAB, which has tried to persuade the SEC to lay off.

Note: After the CAB decision, Delta's President C. E. Woolman called Northeast's President George Gardner to congratulate him on Northeast's victory. "I understand," Woolman added,
"the CAB is blaming Bob Griffith for the leak."

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES

An untold story of the Republican convention was how a CBS employee brazenly attempted to counterfeit extra credentials. He asked a San Francisco printer to print 25 phony floor tickets and 25 special TV passes. The printer pretended to go along, but secretly notified the Secret Service.

Though it's against no law to counterfeit convention credentials, Secret Service agents stopped the scheme on the grounds they had to know who held tickets while the President was there. Embarrassed, the Columbia Broadcasting System denied authorizing the counterfeiting attempt. . . . The Justice Department will present to a Chicago grand jury the most sensational tax scandals since the Truman administration. The case involves prominent politicians who arranged fancy tax settlements through the Chicago Internal Revenue office. "Earnest Sauber has already been dismissed as Chicago's chief T-man. He was charged with "fauty judgment" in permitting taxpayers to make voluntary disclosures. . . . The Anti-Defamation League is investigating complaints that the big airlines have been discriminating against Jewish stewardesses.
Several qualifed girls, including graduate nurses, have been given the brush-off because of their religion.

IKE'S GOLF PARTNER

President Eisenhower made an unfortunate choice of golfing companions at Cypress Point, California, where he went to relax from the Republican convention. He spent an afternoon on the green with Richfield Oil Company's President Charles S. Jones, who just wangled a government concession to drill for oil on Alaska's Kenai moose range.

This has conservationists baying with outrage, not unlike the bull moose that roam the Kenai range.
Dedicated to preserving wildlife refuges, conservationist societies believe in letting the animals alone, not scaring them out of their wits with noisy drilling machinery.

POLITICAL POTPOURRI

Vice President Nixon's ex-campaign manager, Murray Chotiner, will face the political firing squad in October. He's under congress-sional fire for alleged influence in the election. Public hearings have been carefully scheduled before the election by the Senate Investigating committee, which will be shooting at Chotiner but aiming at Nixon. . . . Chotiner held an urgent, private huddle with New York's ex-Gov. Tom Dewey at the Republican convention. Chotiner assured Dewey nothing had been subpoenaed from his files that would embarrass the vice president. . . . Before Chotiner's name became smeared with printers ink, he was called to Seattle to tell GOP leaders how to beat Sen. Warren Magnuson (D., Wash.). One who heard Chotiner's blunt advice copied it down as follows: "You can't beat Magnuson on the issues. The only chance you have to defeat him is to destroy his reputation. There is only one way to do this. You have got to start early and keep it up right through the entire campaign. You can't come out with a last-minute October blast and expect it to take hold. You have got to create doubt in people's minds." . . . Harold Stassen's enemies are already demanding that he be exiled from Washington for opposing Vice President Nixon's nomination.

Senators William Jenner (R., Ind.) and Styles Bridges (R., N.
H.) suggested he be sent to some faraway embassy, like India, to get him out of the way. . . . Meanwhile, Stassen is getting the deep-freeze treatment since returning to his White House job. He's so bitter that he has threatened privately to name the big Republicans who secretly backed his "dump-Nixon" drive. Stassen claims, if he starts naming names, it will blow the top off the GOP.

Burke is Named Deputy Treasurer Of Cook County

CHICAGO — The appointment of Edmund Burke as deputy treasurer of Cook County was announced today by Treasurer Herbert C.
Paschen.

Burke, who retired recently as auditor of the First National Bank of Chicago after 50 years service in the bank, succeeds John D. Sullivan.

Sullivan was fired from the 12-000-a-year post Aug. 2, after the Chicago Sun-Times began an investigation into whether bankers were forced to contribute to a "welfare fund" in Paschen's office, in return for county money deposited with them. Sullivan and John W. F. Smith, former chief personnel clerk in the treasurer's office, were administrators of the fund.
Smith also was fired.

Grace is Through With Film Career

PARIS (AP)—Princess Grace Kelly said today she is definitely and completely through with her film career.

Asked if she has ended her movie acting forever, the former Philadelphia girl replied with a firm "Yes."

She was smiling and radiant as she rejected the possibility of being a part-time movie queen in favor of being full-time Princess of Monaco.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Mighty men which were of old, men of renown. Genesis 6:4.

When we return to scenes of our childhood we are amazed that everything has shrunk and is no longer of gigantic size. There are giants in these days too. The world is getting better.

Frank Nixon, Father of Vice President, Dies

LA HABRA, Calif. (UP)—Frank Nixon, father of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, died quietly Tuesday night from a painful illness.

His sorrowing wife, Hannah, who had been at his bedside constantly, was holding his hand when the elder Nixon, 77, slipped into death from a coma.

The vice president, who also was at his father's bedside along with other members of the family, was taking the death "pretty badly," a family doctor said.

The white-haired elder Nixon was stricken Aug. 22 with a ruptured abdominal artery. Later complications developed from a long-standing hemorrhaging stomach ulcer and other ailments. His doctor was amazed at the elder Nixon's ill-fated battle to live.

It was not known if the vice president would go ahead with his scheduled major speech Thursday before the American Legion national convention in Los Angeles. The family doctor told United Press that three or four days ago he overheard the elder Nixon tell his son to "fulfill his obligation." The doctor assumed the father was talking about the Legion speech.

The Nixons had five children, all boys. Richard, Don and Edward are the only surviving sons.

EISENHOWER, KEFAUVER EXTEND SYMPATHIES

WASHINGTON (UP)— President and Mrs. Eisenhower extended "heartfelt sympathies" today to Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his family on the death of Nixon's father.

Democratic vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver also expressed sympathy.

Eisenhower Plans Farm Belt Campaign

Jacob Javits, now seeking the GOP senatorial nomination in his state, as a fine American. Mr. Eisenhower said if he, himself, is wrong in his estimation of Javits, he would be greatly astonished. Javits went before a Senate committee today to deny rumors that he was backed by Communists.

As for the AFL-CIO Executive Council endorsement of the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket the President said he had a letter Tuesday from a union member in New Jersey. Mr. Eisenhower said the letter writer said he would be loyal to labor leadership on matters involving labor, but resented any effort to tell him how to vote. This, Mr. Eisenhower said, was a very good American spirit.

Praise for Hagerty
He declined to step directly into the war of words between his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, and Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson's camp over whether the Democrats welcomed unemployment as a campaign instrument.

The President referred the subject back to Hagerty for any further comment, but Mr. Eisenhower was high in his praise for his press secretary. He said Hagerty is intelligent, competent and, as far as he is concerned, has done his job well.

In his discussion of campaign plans, he made it plain that the GOP high command wants him to tackle first one of the troublesome areas for the Republicans — the farm belt, where there has been open discontent.

The Eisenhower farm program has been under steady Democratic attack.

Mr. Eisenhower did not classify his Newton, Iowa, appearance for what he called a major address. Instead, he said, he plans to spend the day visiting with friends from the farming communities of the Middle West at the national plowing contest.

He said he will make a major farm speech to the nation a week later—about Sept. 27 or 28.

May Talk in Illinois

Mr. Eisenhower also said he might campaign in Illinois—home state of his rival for the presidency.

His discussion of campaign plans followed Tuesday's announcement that he will kick off the campaign at a big rally of party leaders next Wednesday at his Gettysburg farm.

Mr. Eisenhower said that probably right after Gettysburg, he will make a short studio-type address to a small audience. He did not give the place or date.

He is expected to leave for Gettysburg early next week and spend virtually the entire week in Pennsylvania. He may make at least one side trip within the state, but plans for this have not been announced.

Sentenced

Alvin Tarlton of Harrisburg today was sentenced in police magistrate court to a term of six months in the county jail on a charge of habitual drunkenness.

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

XXXIII
11:47 P. M.

The Tropical Arms Hotel on North Miami Avenue was located between a liquor shop and a delicatessen. The liquor store was still open when Shayne pulled up in front of the hotel and leaped out.

The Tropical Arms was an old hotel, gone to seed. There was a big, empty lobby with shabby, ruffled decorations, yawning chairs and wilted potted palms.

A drop-light over the desk was the only illumination, and there was no one behind the desk.

A hand-printed card propped against a mechanical push-bell instructed Shayne to "Ring for service."

He hit the button sharply with his palm and a loud, metallic "ping" echoed through the empty lobby. Nothing happened, and he kept on ringing until a door opened in a side wall behind the desk and a fat man in his shirt-sleeves emerged. He had pouting lips and he smelled strongly of gin as he waddled up to the desk and grunted, "I heard you the first time, Mister. No need to wake up all the guests."

Shayne skipped the obvious retort. He demanded, "Do you have a Miss Paulson?"

"Miss Paulson?" The fat man belched as he shook his head. "No siren, we sure don't."

"Mr. Paulson? Bert?"

"Well, yes, now. Mr. Paulson is with us for a fact."

"Since when?"

"Just this evening checked in. Not more'n an hour ago."

"What's his room number?"

"Well, I'll tell you, Mister. You wanta talk to Mr. Paulson, I reckon—"

"What number?" Shayne's voice rasped like a file on tempered steel.

"Two-ten. But I'm trying to tell you—"

Shayne turned away fast and went past the closed door of an elevator to stairs on one side. He climbed two flights and found 210. He knocked loudly and tried the door. It was locked and his knocking brought no response.

He cursed at the delay, studied the lock as he got a ring of keys from his pocket. The lock yielded to the first key he chose. Shayne flung the door open on a lighted bedroom. He stood glaring at the huddled figure of a man on the floor beside the bed. An Army automatic lay on the floor beside him. But there was no smell of gun-powder in the tightly closed room.

Shayne pulled the door shut and walked over to look down at the man with the scarred face. His cheeks were very red and his mouth was open and he breathed stertorously. Just beyond his right hand lay a corked pint bottle of whisky about a quarter full.

Shayne leaned over and shook him roughly, calling, "Paulson! Wake up, Paulson!" in his ear. He got no response.

He stepped back with narrowed eyes and kicked the drunken man hard. There was still no response.

Sighing, Shayne went into the bathroom and turned on the light. There was a rust-stained tub with a shower apparatus on the wall at one end.

He went back and got a grip under Paulson's armpits, dragged him into the bathroom and tumbled him inside the tub. He lay there, an inert mass, still breathing loudly and steadily.

Shayne drew the tattered shower curtain to protect himself from the spray, reached a long arm past it and turned on the cold water.

The spray hit full on Paulson's legs, and Shayne reached up to the adjustable head and moved it so it hit him in the face.

Paulson moaned and feebly lifted one arm to ward off the cold water. Shayne turned it on full force and moved the head slowly, sending the stinging spray up and down the length of Paulson's body.

He twitched and jerked and moaned, then sat up suddenly with his eyes wide, grunting, "I'm drowning. Turn it off, I tell you."

Shayne moved the head so the spray took Paulson squarely in the face. He blinked and shuddered and put his hands up, then squirmed to a kneeling position and turned his back on the tormenting water.

Shayne turned it off and reached in to gather up a handful of Paulson's water-soaked coat between the shoulder blades. He pulled the sodden man upright and slapped him viciously, first on one cheek and then the other.

Paulson cried out in surprise and hurt, then cursed thickly and twisted away.

Shayne let him go and stepped back grimly. Paulson slid to a crouching position, opening and shutting his mouth without uttering a sound, his eyes gleaming madly.

Shayne leaned forward and slapped him again. He asked coldly, "Can you hear me, Paulson? Understand what I'm saying?"

"I'm c-cold. I'm f-freezing."

Shayne said, "Let's see if you can stand up." He got a grip on his arm and heaved. Paulson helped himself a little and made it to his feet. Shayne dragged him over the edge of the tub, gave him a hard shove through the doorway. He staggered and went flat on his face on the bedroom floor.

Shayne followed and rolled him over on his back, jerked him up to a sitting posture. The madness was going out of Paulson's eyes, being replaced by fear.

Marine Recruit Dies of Heat Stroke

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — A 19-year-old recruit who enlisted in the Marine Corps only six days ago died Tuesday in the infirmary of the Parris Island recruit depot, apparently the victim of a heat stroke.

Officials said Pvt. Kenneth M. Jones, Queens, N. Y., complained of feeling ill at breakfast Monday and was taken to the infirmary in an ambulance.

He was treated for heat exhaustion and appeared to respond to treatment, a spokesman said. However, he suddenly took a turn for the worse and died at 3 a. m. today.

A board of investigation was convened to inquire into the facts and circumstances surrounding the death.

Americans $50 Million Deeper in Debt For Consumer Items

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans went $50 million deeper into debt in July for automobiles and other consumer items.

The monthly increase reported Tuesday by the Federal Reserve Board is the smallest since March. But it still pushed the total amount that consumers have on the cuff to a record of more than $37 billion.

The July total was about $4 billion above a year earlier.

The reserve board said about half the increase stemmed from last year's record auto-buying spree.

Eliot Holds No Rose Bowl Hopes for Illini; Wants Team in First Division

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Ray Eliot holds hopes for neither the Big Ten championship nor the Rose Bowl for his Illinois football team this year, but wanted the club to make a strong bid to finish in the first division.

"Inexperienced quarterback and ends are our problems, in that order," Eliot said. "We should be all right at every other position, that is, if the kids come through the way we think they will."

The Illini have plenty of newcomers, 35, and some of the sophomores could be a big boost in squad depth, although none are likely to become starters immediately.

Fullback Jack Delveux, tackles Ron Nietupski, Ron Butkus and Art Krumrei, guard Tusi Taualli and quarterback Tom Haller should see action before the season ends and might improve the squad long before that.

Haller could be the surprise of the campaign. Though running behind Hiles Stout and Chuck Shrader on the third team, Eliot rated Haller "the best natural athlete of the bunch" and believed he might develop fast enough calling signals to take over the job.

Stout, a senior, has had chances at the first string quarterback post for two seasons, but was beat out each year. Currently he is rated well ahead of his challengers.

The end situation was uncertain, particularly because Rod Hanson, a star as a sophomore last year, broke his ankle this spring and Eliot won't be sure of his physical condition until he withstands contact. On the other side, Eliot was using Charles Butler, who played last year.

Bulk in Line

"But," Eliot said, "a year ago Butler was a fourth string end and now he's on the first team. I don't know whether he's improved that much or we're that bad."

The Illini will have more bulk than usual in the line with Dick Nordmeyer and Paul Adams at tackle, Percy Oliver and Dave Walker at guard, and Jim Minor at center. All but Adams have won letters and reserves were challenging at every position.

Two speedsters, Bob Mitchell and Harry Jefferson, are the first team halfbacks now with Abe Woodson, another flashy runner, on the second team. Ray Nitsche was the first team fullback, though pressed by Delveux.

Eldorado Splits Even in Games During Week End

The Eldorado Merchants split even in a pair of baseball games over the week end, losing Sunday to a strong Carverville nine, 8-3, and winning Labor Day at Marion, 17-3.

Against Carverville the Merchants scored three runs on six hits off the pitching of "Lefty" Seats, former professional hurler in the Three-Eye League.

Irvin and Sisky, hurled for Eldorado and were touched for eight runs and nine hits.

Vineyard was the Merchant catcher and Terry Jones, 17-year-old lad who just recently signed with the Chicago Cubs for a $2,000 bonus, was the Carverville receiver.

Monday Eldorado travelled to Marion and romped to a 17-3 triumph, behind the pitching of "Hop" Vineyard, who allowed only five hits and struck out eight.

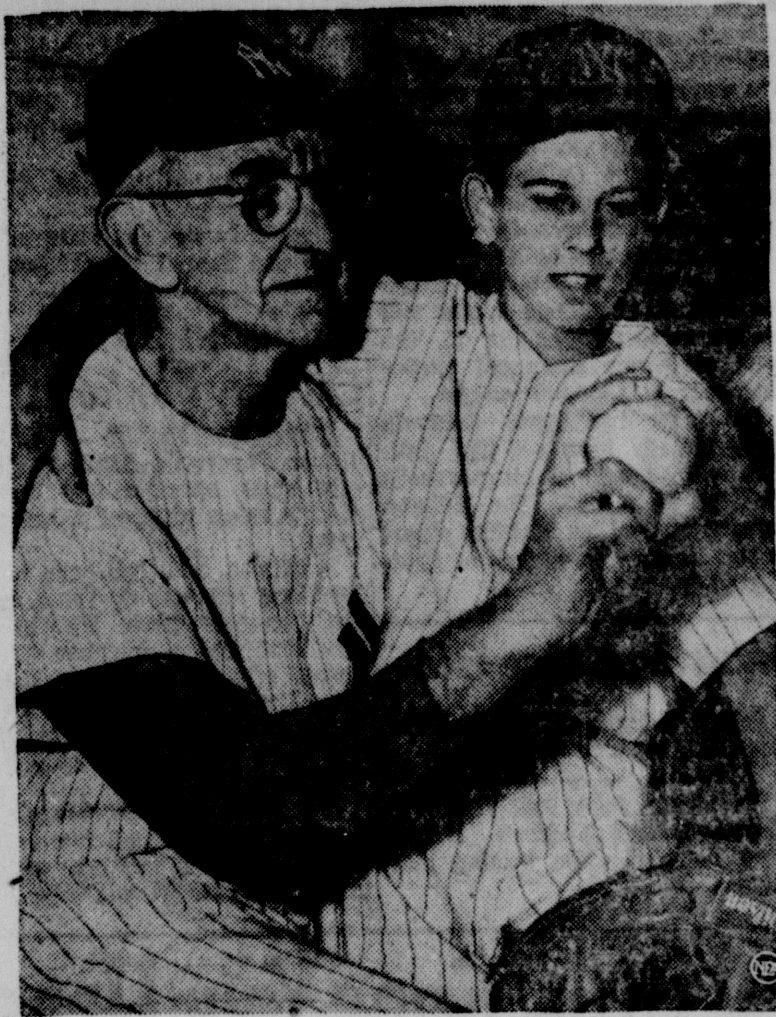

Eldorado made 17 runs on 19 hits from the offerings of Dunnigan, Troxell, McCormick and Groves.

Eldorado players hitting safely in the two games were Beasley 5, Pulliam 4, D. Vineyard 5, Miller 3, Irvin 2, M. Stone 2, H. Vineyard 2, Parton 1 and Griffith 1.

Next Sunday the Merchants play the Colored Cardinals at Uniontown, Ky.

There will be a practice session at 5:30 p. m. Friday at the Raleigh diamond.

STOCKTON, Calif. — Dommy Ursua, 117, Manila, stopped Johnny Ortega, 115, San Francisco, (6).

Bull Dogs Practice for Opener; Squad Lacks Depth, Experience

Calufetti Seeks Player Combination For the Varsity

The Harrisburg Bull Dog football squad continued to practice this week for the opener against Murphysboro here a week from Friday night but Coach Lawrence Calufetti was not too optimistic about things at the present time.

"We have lack of experience and we have lack of depth," he said, "and we have lack of depth, the smallest team since I've been in Harrisburg."

Lack of experience and lack of depth can be ascertained quickly by these two facts.

1. All the first eleven members of last year's squad are gone.
2. Calufetti has all the sophomore candidates up with the varsity at present as he tries to find boys who can help the Bull Dogs.

Players Gone

Gone are Jim Dale Williams and Joe Dorris, the ends; Ken Price and Everett Evans, the tackles; Richard Hess and Jay Waite, the guards; Ronnie Williams, the center; Wayman Hefner quarterback; Jack Wright and Fred McKenzie halfbacks; and Tony Beal, fullback, of the 1955 team. Mike Hays, who did a lot of quarterbacking, also is gone.

Only Jim Cummings, who played on defense as safety man, and Lou Ray Williams, guard, saw consistent varsity play among the boys who are back this year. Seeing considerable action late in the season because of injuries to others were Bill Henshaw, end, and Don Biggs, halfback. John Ziegler, fullback, was a promising player at the start of the season but broke his arm after the second game and was through for the year. Also, Trevor Whiteside, halfback, was coming along fine toward the end of the season when he broke a collar bone. All these boys except Biggs, a junior, are seniors.

Calufetti, who said he hoped to bring his boys out for scrimmage under the lights Friday evening about 7:00, declared he definitely had not settled on a first eleven, that all spots were open. Emphasizing that posts are constantly subject to change, he said he had been using this combination mostly the past few practice sessions;

Fight for Positions

Allen Buchanan, center; Lou Ray Williams and Gary Aldridge, guards; Ronnie Vick and Ray Hassett, tackles; Bill Henshaw and Bennie Folkerson, ends; Jim Cummings, quarterback; Trevor Whiteside and Donald Biggs, halfbacks; and John Ziegler, fullback. Buchanan, Aldridge, Hassett and Biggs are juniors, the remainder seniors.

Also fighting for varsity positions are Bill Endsley, junior guard; Wendell Fischer, sophomore end who might be converted into a guard; Donald Beggs, Don Winters, Mike Hipes and a lad named Stallings. Hipes also is a transfer from Carmi.

Other sophomores who are practicing with the varsity are David Dalton, halfback; Bob Pavelonis, quarterback; Carl Fleming, halfback; Phillip Cain, quarterback; Harold Beal, guard; A. J. Bryant, tackle; Barnhill, guard; Mike Woolcott, end; John Wathen, end; John Sheldon, tackle; Dewayne Martin, halfback; and Lowell Furlong, halfback.

Fight Results

MIAMI BEACH — Pat Lowry, 151, Toledo, Ohio, defeated Miguel Diaz, 149½, Havana. (10).

Big Car Races At Fairgrounds Here on Sept. 15

The thrilling auto races presented at the Saline County Fair this year were so well received that the fair board has made arrangements to return the Mississippi Valley Championship Circuit cars to the fairgrounds for a Saturday night date on Sept. 15.

Once again time trials, four heats and two features will be presented. However, this race will mark the final race of the 1956 season and will carry double championship points to the winners in the various events. In addition, the 1956 champion will be named following the Sweepstakes race and will be presented with a trophy award. The retiring 1955 champion will make the presentation.

At the present time Rocky Williams leads all other cars in the race for points toward 1956 awards. Williams is a veteran driver of 25 years having started his career at the age of 19 while taking part in ash can derbies. These cars featured stripped chassis with only a steering wheel and bucket seats and gave him the hard fought experience needed through his many dirt track campaigns. He has been hospitalized more times than any other driver in Mississippi Valley competition and usually it has been through the driving errors of other drivers.

Williams and a host of other association drivers have just returned from a circuit of fair dates which took them to 19 fairs in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Minnesota. Throughout this time Williams has been content to finish behind the leaders, but as the championship race will end the season, he is expected to go all out to wind up the 1956 season in a blaze of speed expected to carry him to victory.

Time trials will be at 7 p. m.

Robinson Hits 37th Homer In 10th Inning as Reds Defeat Milwaukee, 4 to 2

Birdie Tebbetts made a bum guess when he said Frank Robinson would hit 15 homers this year and it could be that the canny Cincinnati skipper will gladly eat that prediction complete with pennant trimmings.

Robinson connected for his 37th homer Tuesday night and the blow touched off a two-run rally in the 10th inning that gave the Redlegs a 4-2 victory over Milwaukee and boosted them within 2 1/2 games of the National League lead.

"I was trying not to be over-optimistic this spring when I said that Robinson would hit 15 homers," Tebbetts says, "but the way things have turned out it could be the understatement of the year."

Robinson's homer, off reliever Ernie Johnson, left him only one shy of the all-time rookie record of 38 set by outfielder Wally Berger of the Boston Braves in 1930. Following the homer, singles by Ted Kluszewski, Willy Post and Ed Bailey provided the Redlegs with an insurance marker.

The victory went to hard-working Hershel Freeman, who relieved starter Hal Jeffcoat when he was forced to leave the game with a pulled leg muscle after retiring the side in the eighth. Freeman's record is now 12 victories and four defeats.

Cincinnati broke up a pitching duel between Jeffcoat and rookie Taylor Phillips with two runs in the sixth but the Braves bounced back to tie the score with four hits in the eighth. That's the way matters stood until Robinson broke the tie in the 10th.

In the only other National League game scheduled, veteran Max Surkont of the Giants hurled a six-hitter for a 7-2 victory over the Phillies. Surkont and loser Harvey Haddix were locked in a 1-1 tie until Foster Castleman homered in the seventh inning. The Giants pushed across another run in the seventh and then added four more in the ninth.

Kansas City dropped Cleveland nine games off the American League pace by defeating the Indians, 5-2, with a 10-hit attack. Southpaw Herb Score, tagged for Kansas City's first three runs, suffered his ninth loss against 15 victories while Jack Crimian scored his third triumph although Art Ditmar pitched the final two innings.

The White Sox clouted four Tiger pitchers for 13 hits in beating Detroit, 11-4. In addition to posting his 10th victory and sixth in a row, right-hander Dick Donovan chipped in with a three-run homer. Ted Lepcio's 14th homer to lead off the 12th inning gave the Red Sox a 7-6 victory over the Senators. Lepcio's homer, his ninth in Boston's last 18 games, came off Bud Byerly, who had retired 11 men in a row before the wallop.

Plan Three-Way Playoff if Necessary In National League

CINCINNATI (AP)—Just 10 years after the first pennant play-off in major league history, plans were drawn up today for a three-way National League elimination derby in the event that Milwaukee, Brooklyn, and Cincinnati finish in a dead heat.

President Warren Giles of the National League, openly rooting for the triple tie, wrote the scenario for what could be baseball's maddest thriller since Frank Merriwell was graduated from Yale.

If the triple tie should occur, there would be a series on the home grounds of the teams involved as soon as it was "physically possible." Giles, by league rule, would be designated to draw lots.

Stratton to Be Questioned About Bankers' Political Contributions

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton will appear Thursday before an investigator of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee for questioning about bankers' contributions to political campaigns, investigator Robert A. Wallace said today.

Wallace said he wants to clarify "the relationship between the state, the county deposits, and the administration, and contributions and gifts to public officials and candidates that had influence over the destiny of banks."

"These deposits are very valuable to banks, and we are interested to see what method was used by the banks to acquire these deposits," he said.

The interview will be held in Chicago.

Wallace said there was no question that contributions were made to political campaigns and that the primary issue is their relationship to the deposits of county funds on which banks must pay only 1 per cent interest. Bankers may make such contributions, he said, but banks may not.

Wallace said he will have records from the state treasurer's office from the period when Richard Yates held the post, in 1947-48, to the records of the incumbent, Warren Wright, and including the time when Stratton was treasurer in 1951-52.

U. S. Jets Collide in Japan; Pilot Killed

TOKYO (AP) — Two U. S. Air Force jet fighters collided in flight near the Komaki Air Force Base in central Japan today, killing the pilot, the headquarters of the U. S. Far East Air Forces announced.

The pilot for the other plane parachuted from his craft and doctors at Komaki Air Base Hospital said he suffered only minor injuries.

Japanese press reports said fragments from one of the planes landed on a Japanese home in the industrial city of Nagoya, burning two homes, causing injuries to a 17-year-old girl and knocking an old woman unconscious.

Twins, 3, Treated After Swallowing Reducing Pills

CHRISTOPHER, Ill. (AP) — The 3-year-old Spizking twins have been released from a hospital where they received treatment for excessive consumption of reducing pills.

The twins, June and Jeri, were found in a very elated mood by their mother Saturday. Nearby lay an empty bottle of reducing pills, which Mrs. Spizking said was full the last time she saw it.

The twins were taken to a hospital, where doctors termed their conditions as serious for a short while. However, they were released Tuesday after doctors felt they would suffer no further ill effects.

STOCK MARKET HIGHER THIRD STRAIGHT SESSION

NEW YORK (AP) — Oils, metals and chemicals paced the stock market higher today for the third straight session. Trading was the heaviest in more than two weeks.

The improved outlook for peacefully settling the thorny Suez dispute was a factor behind the market's good performance. A raft of glowing economic predictions also helped.

The Dow Jones averages at noon were: 30 industrials 509.82, up 2.16; 20 railroads 161.28, up 0.28; utilities 69.18, up 0.20; and 65 stocks 178.60, up 0.60.

Legion Urged to Continue Fight for Compulsory Training

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The American Legion has been urged by its retiring commander, J. Addington Wagner, to fight for compulsory military training because the volunteer reserve program "has failed."

The commander of the 2,800,000 Legionnaires got the group's 36th annual national convention down to serious business Tuesday by submitting his final report. The report also advocated:

A continued battle for a new veteran's security bill which would pay $105-month pensions to World War I veterans over 65.

A continued effort to secure a congressional investigation of UNESCO and the U. S. commission for UNESCO.

Wagner told the convention that the Legion's work of the past year "to expose the danger to America represented by the Fund for the Republic has borne good fruit."

go machine, were key men behind the central committee's choice.

They had conferred several times on prospective candidates since Paschen resigned following charges about a $29,000 employees' "welfare fund" in his office. Federal and county grand juries are investigating charges that banks kicked into the fund to receive deposits of county money and that the fund was used for political purposes.

Stevenson and Daley did not attend the committee meeting, but Chicago members passed the word on Austin, whose name had hardly been mentioned. Austin emerged as the top prospect among 20 possible candidates following a meeting of Chicago party bigwigs called Labor Day by Daley.

Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman and a protégé of Stevenson, earlier had appeared to be the most promising choice.

Politicians of Cook County apparently decided Austin could best help Stevenson against President Eisenhower in the November election, and could swing away at the million dollar embezzlement scandal in Stratton's administration.

The Paschen trouble nullified Democratic attempts to cash in on the illegal manipulations of deposed State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, now serving a 12-15 year sentence for embezzling state funds.

Austin Moretti Prosecutor Austin, an Episcopalian, won fame for his successful prosecution as an assistant state's attorney of Michael Moretti, a Chicago policeman accused of slaying two boys.

He had entered and won only one previous election battle — the 1953 judicial election which found him receiving more votes than any of his rivals. Austin also was a law partner of former Republican Gov. Dwight H. Green for a few years.

Austin flew here after receiving word of his selection and announced "I'll do the best I can." He pledged a campaign based on "honesty and integrity" and felt the 60 days until election offered time enough for his campaign.

Mitchell immediately rallied to Austin's support, calling the nominee a "first rate citizen and fully qualified to be governor of our state."

New Phony Check Turns Up in Hodge Scandal

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Another phony check in the million-dollar Hodge scandal turned up today.

Asst. State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman said William Mehl, a long time employee of deposed State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, has admitted cashing a $621 state warrant to pay for office equipment for the former Hodge agency at Granite City.

Ackerman said Mehl acknowledged receiving the warrant from Hodge at the ex-auditor's direction, cashing it at the First Granite City National Bank, and turning over a cashier's check for that amount to Shaw-Walker, an office equipment firm.

Begin Harvesting Area Apple Crop

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Fruit Council says harvesting in heavy volume of golden delicious, red delicious and starking apples in southern Illinois began today and will continue through Sept. 20.

Limited volume of Jonathans are moving to market now and will increase rapidly within the next week. Volume in the Jonathan harvest in the Calhoun County-Quincy area is expected by Sept. 10 and the northern Illinois harvest is anticipated by Sept. 15.

The council predicts that 1,500,000 bushels of Illinois apples will be harvested through Oct. 15. The total crop was estimated earlier this year at 1,850,000 bushels.

Dates for two apple festivals have already been set this fall. One will be held at Murphysboro on Sept. 14 and 15. The Calhoun County festival at Hardin, oldest in the state, is scheduled for Sept. 29 and 30.

Unlock Extra Eggs Your Hens Could Lay...with New Hybridized Staley Egg Atoms

Made for the High-Producing Hen!

The plain truth today is that millions of today's hens have the power to be much bigger producers than they ever get to be. Your hens, too, may be better than you think. The hatcheries today have produced a quality pullet (either hybrid or standard breed) that, with the right feed and management, can lay as much as 40 to 70 eggs more — up to 270 to 280 eggs a year.

They Need More Protein

Why don't they lay like that for you? Leading authorities say it's because they only get protein enough to let them lay 190 to 210 eggs a year, and lack the other elements this extra protein demands.

Increases Of 40 to 70 Eggs Per Hen

Now comes Staley's HYBRIDIZED Duo Egg Atoms, to be fed 50-50 with your farm grains. With its new sharply increased protein level, and other energy-conversion factors, Duo Egg Atoms unlocks that full egg-laying power. Many a hen that seemed a comparative loafer, doing only about 55% production, has suddenly become a 270-280-egg profit booster (40 to 70 more eggs!) when she gets this kind of feed power.

Work Well With Any Grains

Note one thing: Staley Duo Egg Atoms can be used with any grains — and they'll "unlock" that extra egg-laying capacity. Here's a special form of proof — they can (with good hens) even increase egg production 40 to 70 eggs a year with today's hybrid corn — which is high energy but low in protein! Comparable results can be achieved with oats, barley and milo.

Make The Most of Pullets' Breeding

Start that laying flock on HYBRIDIZED Duo Egg Atoms now. You paid for good chicks. You fed and managed them to be high producing hens. Feed them to give you the egg production you bought them for. See your Staley dealer!

Note: If you are in a grain-deficient area, you will get the same feeding principles by feeding Staley HYBRIDIZED SOLO Egg Atoms straight without added grain. And, if you have large amounts of grain for your hens, ask your Staley dealer for Staley HYBRIDIZED TRIO Egg Atoms to make a ration of one part TRIO atoms to 2 parts grain.

Save 22¢ each on Feeders that HELP HENS LAY MORE

Do you know the kind of feeder you use can make a difference in how many eggs you get? It's a fact. Here's why:

20% of hens are underfed. They don't get enough to eat, to make them good layers. They're the timid aggressive birds.

With hanging feeders like this one Staley offers, you can provide the extra feeding space that lets those timid hens eat and lay.

So take advantage of this offer now: With every 200 lbs. of any Staley Egg Atoms you buy, you're entitled to one of these $3.98-value hanging feeders for only $1.98. Each feeder holds 42 pounds of feed; the feeding space is ample for 10 to 15 hens. You'll want several — so plan to get them from your Staley dealer now.

$3.98 VALUE
$1.98

WITH PURCHASE OF 200 LBS. OF ANY STALEY EGG ATOMS

NOW THERE'S FEED SPACE EVEN FOR US TIMID BIRDS!

Secret of Fast-Starting Layers:

Staley Super Egg Atoms are used by experienced feeders any time in the year to give hens a quick "pep-up," and as a flock-health measure to head off infectious disease. They're also important for quick-starting your pullets. The first week you put your pullets in the laying house feed them, 100 PER CENT, on Staley Super Egg Atoms. Use no grain-feed Super Egg Atoms straight.
